

Sunshine Stripper Harvester

"Sunshine Stripper Harvesters" were produced by Hugh Victor McKay's Sunshine Harvester Works factory in Braybrook Junction (West of Melbourne – the town was renamed "Sunshine" in 1908).

This machine could strip, thresh, winnow and bag grain and was invented by H.V.Mckay in the late 1800's. The stripper-harvester increased grain yields and cut down on the amount of physical labour, as well as the time needed to harvest.

Year: 1926

S/N: 335531

Number: 7

Donated: M. Borgward

Est 1981

